

Partnership for Health Analytic Research, LLC

Director, Health Services Research

PHAR, LLC, a boutique health services research consultancy based in Beverly Hills CA, seeks a motivated self-starter to join our team of professionals as Director of Health Services Research. The position is full-time and entails the design, conduct, and dissemination of health services research projects.

Applicants must be board certified or board eligible physicians with a masters or doctoral degree in health services or related field. Applicants must also possess the ability to work independently, multi-task, be detail-oriented, and provide excellent client service. Excellent verbal and written communication skills are required.

Experience in diverse types of health services research (e.g., systematic reviews, secondary data analyses, survey development, and expert panels) a plus. Experience in the pharmaceutical, biotech, and medical devices industries a plus but not required.

The position affords the opportunity for rapid growth within the company; part-time clinical activity may be maintained if desired.

We offer a competitive salary commensurate with experience. Generous benefits include company-sponsored retirement plan and medical, dental, and vision coverage. The position is located in Beverly Hills, CA.

Please forward cover letter, resume, writing sample, and salary range to:
