

Senior Researcher, Health Economics Research

Overview of PHAR

Partnership for Health Analytic Research (PHAR), LLC is a clinically focused health services research consultancy. We combine rigorous methodology with extensive clinical expertise to support clients in the life science industry. Our clients appreciate the unique insight our experienced staff brings to each and every project. Unencumbered by corporate bureaucracy, we can efficiently execute contracts and complete projects on time and on budget. We pride ourselves on being reliable and responsive to our clients' changing needs.

Position Description

The senior researcher will work with PHAR's Health Economics team, which completes a wide range of health economic models and deliverables, including budget impact models, cost effectiveness models, economic forecasting models, presentation and training slide decks, abstracts & manuscripts, and AMCP style dossiers. Working with experienced methodology experts and junior analysts, the senior researcher will assist with the design and execution of these research projects. The senior researcher will both oversee and perform research tasks, including identifying model inputs, programming models, managing study timelines, and medical writing for peer-reviewed publications. Our work crosses a wide range of clinical areas, including oncology, rheumatology, pediatrics, infectious disease, urology, and others.

We seek persons with strong interest in health economic research and analysis, and an interest in working in an environment where teamwork, integrity, and high standards are valued.

Qualifications

- Master's degree in public health, health economic research, or related discipline; PhD a plus
- 2-3 years' experience with health economic modeling; programming in Excel using Visual Basic for Application (VBA) or programming in TreeAge a plus
- Ability to communicate clearly and effectively in English, both orally and in writing
- Ability to work effectively as a member of a multidisciplinary team
- Experience outside academia in the pharmaceutical, biotech, or medical devices industries a plus
